DEDICATION

In appreciation for the time that he has spent guiding the Student Council, chaperoning dances, organizing activities, or just listening to our problems, we dedicate this yearbook to the man we most admire and respect — Mr. Bruce Davidson.

IN MEMORIAM
TO PAMELA MOSS

This is the beginning of our lives as individuals. From here each of us will choose his own way; each of us will become responsible for himself as an end product, a part of society. This is the beginning of adulthood.

This is the end of absolute regimentation by state and by parents. From here the state and our parents are no longer responsible for us. This is the end of adolescence.

This is our chronicle.

A moment of sadness as flowers die and birds fly south and the whole world seems to be waiting, anticipating.

A time of exhilaration under naked blue sky, with children playing in piles of leaves or stopping to watch squirrels gather nuts by the oak.

A journey back to wearing shoes again and going to school with books and friends and readjustment.

This is autumn, the season of contrast — the laughing vagrant gypsy that wends its way down golden roads filled with blue-white smoke and falling chestnuts, woolen skirts and people —

Just now beginning to feel the wind
As sun shines coldly on brilliant trees.

MR. ELMER F. PECK
District Principal

Dear Seniors:

If we may compare your physical and mental growth at this point with the four seasons, this phase of your life might truly be called Spring.

You have been nurtured and cared for like a rare plant or tree by your parents and the school. Now that Spring has come you are ready to burst forth into full bloom.

I hope all of you continue to develop new branches of interest and competence in the summers ahead. If you will continue along the path outlined for you by your parents and teachers, you will develop into a well-rounded individual with many varied interests.

Like the giant oak, you will stand for decades and be a refuge for all those who need the comfort of your shade in the heat of summer.

Sincerely,
Elmer F. Peck

MR. WALLACE J. HOWELL
Principal

The school year is divided into three seasons — fall, winter, and spring.

In the fall the students arrive bursting with enthusiasm to begin the year's work — join clubs and organizations, renew acquaintances, and make new friends.

Suddenly, the pall of winter settles upon everyone and everything. The enthusiasm becomes dull, failing marks appear, ineligibility raises its ugly head, and personal gloom, befitting the winter weather, settles upon many a student.

After winter comes spring. Again the enthusiasm for outdoor sports, picnics, and dates take the center of the stage. And all too soon June arrives with final examinations which portend either success or failure depending upon how seriously you have taken educational matters.

The moral of this is simple. Take the seasons in stride but don't lose track of the major goal of all educational pursuits — successful completion of your year's work, and, for seniors, graduation and commencement that usher in a whole new world of education's seasons with the same old problems all over again.

MR. BRUCE DAVIDSON
Vice-Principal

Those of us teachers from kindergarten through this last year in high school who have labored with you, over you and for you are jealous of the energy which we have used in your behalf. While it may seem strange to you to think of your teachers in this way, it is nevertheless true.

We hope that this energy which has been expanded in concern, love, discipline, and academic preparation has not been in vain. We hope that you will take time to think instead of follow. We hope that you will not have it too easy for a while. We would ask for you a demanding boss or college professor. It is our hope that your television set breaks down from time to time and that you don't have money to have it repaired before you have time to read a good book. We would hope that your mind is clear about the differences between an aristocrat and a snob; between equality and the right to mock. Last, but not least, we earnestly wish that, while recognizing another person's right to his opinion, you will also have the courage to stand up for your own conviction.

Bruce B. Davidson

BOARD OF EDUCATION

The word "season" is a verb as well as a noun. According to Webster, to season is "to improve the quality of, as by aging"; "to mature"; "to give experience"; and "to temper or make less harsh."

It is indeed our hope that the aging process which you have undergone during the past seasons has made you a more fully developed person — instilled with a love of learning and a sense of responsibility for the ethical and cultural values that are your heritage.

The seasoned player has learned from his experience; as you enter industry or higher education, may we point out that it will be your ability to become seasoned, to learn from your experiences, that it will be the key to success.

It is also our hope that your words, your attitudes, and your deeds may come to show the understanding, the tolerance and the sympathy for your fellow man that is the mark of the seasoned adult.

We can hope — but only you can make our hopes come true.

UNDERCLASSMEN

"... but Miss Boldger, when I asked him, he said he didn't know how to play a waltz!"

"Football certainly is an interesting sport, isn't it?"

JUNIORS

Not yet involved in college interviews and applications, English projects, and College Boards, they are the laughing, the carefree underclassmen. Trying hard not to lose their academic way, just beginning to grasp the extent of future problems, constantly searching for the balance between hilarity and seriousness, they are gaily apathetic and dependably unpredictable. In a year, after a few wistful glances and regretful sighs, the class of 1964 will assume its role as a leader with direction and purpose.

SOPHOMORES

The year of awakening, acceptance,
 participation, Anxious to be recognized but without special distinction.
 Often overly confident but no longer an outcast.
 Gradually assuming a role, a purpose in school, watching and preparing for the extension of responsibilities.
 The sophomores are the journeymen,
 the squires,
 the class in waiting.

FRESHMEN

Shattered victims of the stunning fall from junior high heights to senior high depths.
Inheritors of the sophomore's scorn,
the juniors contempt,
the senior's superiority complex.
Underdog contenders in the traditional class fight that never ends but just graduates.
Forever wondering whether to laugh or cry,
talk or keep quiet.
Always struggling to find a common ground,
a common spirit.

Inspired by Coach DelGiorno, a perfect season of eight wins and no defeats.
The smallest but the best,
the promise of greatness
in the future.
Proud of our 1962 Junior Varsity team.

FRESHMAN ONE-ACT PLAY

Three plays, directed and staged completely by students, competed against one another for acting honors. "The Running Tide" presented by the Juniors, "The Trysting Place" presented by the Sophomores, and "Not Such a Goose" presented by the Freshmen displayed the acting skill of these three classes. The faculty skit, "If Men Played Cards the Way Women Do," and the Senior skit, "The Other Side of the West Side Story," provided many amusing moments.

FOOTBALL

UNDEFEATED! Well, at least almost. This year's bone-jarring, spirit-raising, team of responsible, mature individuals, wearing $10,000 worth of special no-place-to-store-it equipment, did not lose a single game in league competition.

Their only defeat came on June 28, when they played against the entire voting public of the Penfield school district. After a grueling battle the final (?) score was 1350 to 715 in favor of the opposition. But just wait until next year, or the year after that, or maybe the year after that one . . .

The puffing, shouting,
breathing feeling
That starts and stops,
tires and revives.
Bright red ears, the warmth of movement, slumber deep beneath folds of coldness,
one last run down the side of a mountain.

Life seems stilted, wholly enveloped in crystal fortresses
That hang from roofs and frozen trees, surrounded by a shifting world.
But through this frosted, whitened pane lie roaring fires and a cup of hot coffee, Songs,
stories,
old magazines.

Winter is the blanket, keeping out the cold, making one want to lie suspended between sleep and awareness, life and death.

WINTER WEEK END

Penfield's Second Annual Winter Weekend was a resounding success. Sponsored by the Student Council, it was highlighted by the Brighton game, a dance with the "Dukes," and a talent show.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

FIRST ROW: M. MacNab, G. Fleig, J. Brennan, Mr. Rutigliano, Advisor, W. Burlingame.
SECOND ROW: P. Prazar, R. Scott, R. Lorensen.

WIDE HORIZONS

Have you ever considered probability or the structure of language or the theory of sound? Chances are you have if you've been in Wide Horizons. Each year six Penfield students are chosen to participate in a University-run program of enrichment at Cutler Union. Here they, along with other top students from Monroe County, are introduced to college material by University of Rochester professors. The end result, hopefully, is a broader awareness of academic interests.

LIBRARY CLUB

Long one of Penfield's outstanding service organizations, Library Club provides its members with valuable training in the techniques of library work. Occasional lectures and excursions, as well as a famous booth at the Diplomat Fair, make this club not only educational, but enjoyable. The results, if not librarians, are better-prepared students.

DRAMATICS CLUB

The Dramatics Club is an organization of students interested in all phases of dramatic production. The club is responsible for instructing its members in the arts of make-up and stage arrangement, as well as in acting. These abilities are channeled towards practical results in the production of an inter-class one act play contest and towards aiding the classes in their full-length productions in spring and fall.

THE FINAL PRODUCTION

THESPIANS

The Thespians and stage crew represent two very specialized and integral parts of Penfield's dramatic task force. The Thespians have gained election through one or more dramatic endeavors and stand always ready to act as students or teachers in the art they have learned and mastered. They provide the backbone of experience in acting and in producing Penfield's plays.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

This year's National Honor Society has undertaken a program of service to the school which includes both entertainment and education. A series of movies and a program of tutorial assistance has been undertaken. Under the leadership of its president, Pat Scott, and the guidance of its faculty advisor, Mr. Wilcox, Honor Society members have taken on a larger role in school life.

PEN POINTER EDITORS

Humorous and serious, educational and recreational, the newspaper is a product of endless fact finding sojourns. Containing everything from opinion polls to jokes, current events to onions, it is informative to both students and faculty. With six impressive, much anticipated issues a year, the Pen Pointer has become a spokesman for the school.

TEEN SCENE REPORTER

Donna Hastings is Penfield's choice for Teen Scene Reporter. News of Penfield's many and varied activities appear in Donna's weekly column in the Rochester newspaper.

JUNCTION STAFF

Writers, photographers, artists, technicians — it takes all kinds of talent to create a yearbook. Each Junction is the fulfillment of a theme based on the attitudes or goals of that particular class. Gradually, through periods of hard work and frustration, hilarity and chaos, emerges a complete record of another year at Penfield.

SPECTRUM

A lemon sun slowly rises over trees
And peeps through curtains that kept out blackness.
A dewy morning glory unfolds moist petals
Which smile in triumph of the dawn.
Golden wheels are tossed by a frivolous wind
To be whisked to unknown destinations.

Jean Farbroth

What is this world that it rubs life into the dirt of logic?
That it makes the happy sob in despair?
That it drives its idols into insanity?
That it stores away passion in a padded cell?

SEATED: Barbara Zinker, art editor; Mark Jaccox, co-editor; Janice Wroblewski, STANDING: Bruce Murray, Business manager; Nadine Catalfano.

The Spectrum is the annual project of the Junior Honors English class. The highly successful literary magazine is the culmination of the creative efforts of Penfield students and the editorial talent of the Honors class. Under the guidance of Mrs. Esther Wilson, the Spectrum has gained a reputation for both entertainment and literary excellence, and its pages have brought greater literary appreciation to Penfield students.

G.A.A.

In spite of unusually poor conditions for play — there were no locker or shower facilities and little opportunity for organized practice — the Girls' Athletic Association had an exceptionally successful year. In a series of Monroe County Sports Days, Penfield took first place in tennis, volleyball, badminton and table tennis.

VARSITY CLUB

The Varsity Club is made up of boys whose participation in Penfield's sports effort has been significant. The club is honorary and is open only to those who have completed the requirements of two varsity letters. The major activity of the club is to aid the Athletic Association in preparing for and cleaning up after games. Profit from candy sales is used to purchase Varsity Club jackets.

GYMNASTIC CLUB

Under the leadership of Coach Hunter, this club was organized to allow those students interested in various facets of gymnastics to use school equipment outside of physical education courses. Time is allowed for individual practice, but the whole club convenes once a year to show off its talents in a tumbling exhibition.

STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS

Representative of school and community, forum for student-faculty debate, school policy advisor — our Student Council fills many roles. Among its biggest responsibilities is the organization of an annual Diplomat Fair; Student Council coordinates the efforts of all the school clubs in order to raise money to send one of our students abroad and bring a foreign student to Penfield. The Council also sponsors Winter Weekend, featuring a game with Brighton and dance with the Dukes. Student council is a strong organization, providing Penfield High with a measure of self-government.

Honor Society Study Hall is now in session.

"Do you love me?"

"Anytime you need any more help, Mr. Frank, just call on us."

"Goodness gracious me! I believe I've dropped a stitch!"

Striving pushing,
To reach the surface
Where warmth and rain and gentle winds make soft green pastures a roving sea of studied grace, and carefree elegance.

Where love and laughter and everything uncontainable Fill minds and hearts of peoples, cities,
nations.

Nothing stops to heed a fear of sheltered peril, veiled unknown.
For everywhere,
in deep green woods
or hilly orchards,
The pulsing throb of springtime's cry
resounds into the future.

And from the vital, reborn earth that strains from restlessness, Arises the dream
that all will be night in the world tonight and forever.

SENIOR CLASS

Officers: Judy Toporcer, Secretary; Chad Hayden, President; Gary Dake, Treasurer; Bill Cowles, Vice-President.

Boisterous and chaotic,
Ponderous and bewildered,
But always uncontainable, Possessing qualities of scholarship and leadership, determination and pride, they have worked to make Penfield High stronger and more respected, to create greater goals and higher standards.
Made up of many divergent hopes and dreams, aspiring to be poets or teachers, artists or lawyers, engineers or just someone who will make the world a little greater. Often presumptuous and forever idealistic, this strange combination of the aesthetic and the intellectual proudly steps forward as the Class of 1963.

Representatives: E. Kraft, P. Farbrot, E. Fitter, F. Anderson, J. Bowersox, S. Lansing, W. Oakley.

Rochester is sometimes referred to as "the city that has everything." In business, industry and the professions, this is especially true. No matter what kind of a career appeals to you, there is an excellent chance that you can begin it right here. And the beginning is half the battle won!

It goes without saying that the first step is your formal education — as much as you can get. Employers look for this first. The next thing they look for is "brightness." And one key to "brightness" is how much you actually know about the kind of work you're after. This is something you don't inherit from anybody. It is information you gather in advance for yourself — from parents, teachers, counselors, and friends. Most important — employers themselves are always ready to explain their standards and requirements.

Your idea of the best career for your particular talents may change as you acquire more and more information about different fields of work. But when you decide what you want to do, some employer in the Rochester area will really want you — because by analyzing yourself, you have made yourself valuable.
